Makes things happen

Welcome Rushees!

A warm welcome is extended to you by the men of AEPi. As you read through this book, keep in mind the serious, and humorous side of fraternity life. We hope that you will choose to make the rewarding experience of Fraternalism a part of your college career. We feel that Aepi offers more than any other fraternity. Read this book, talk with the brothers, and note the advantages. Only then will you understand why we chose what we did. Brotherhood — the AEPi way!

MASTER'S MESSAGE

Dear Rushee:

The task of welcoming you to the University and to the fraternity system, although pleasureable, is a very difficult one. Difficult because there is so much to say and express, and nowhere near enough space to do this adequately.

The University of Florida is not the "jungle" that many people call it, but it is difficult to succeed here alone, with few friends - as an independent.

In my estimation, belonging to a fraternity - especially during one's first two years - is a prerequsite for success. Whether it be in campus politics, academics, participation in athletics or an active social life; membership in a fraternity is an invaluable aid.

The men of AEII feel they offer more than any other fraternity on campus, and suggest that you view the other chapters objectively and compare the advantages of all.

I think you'll find, by this method, that AEII can successfully serve as that invaluable aid I mentioned, and will prove itself worthy of you brotherhood.

I say this because a fraternity is only as good as its brothers - only as good as the brotherhood they possess.

I am looking forward to meeting you very soon.

Sincerely,

Stu Levitan

. . . through Concern for the Community

Singular among all the fraternities on campus, AEPi has earned the honor of winning the Inter-fraternity council's most respected award, The Dan McCarty Service Trophy, for two years in a row, excelling in purposeful service to the community and the University.

Whether it be helping the neighborhood vista volunteers, tutoring underprivileged children, or helping to provide food to needy families — AEPis are a dedicated group who share a deep sense of responsibility, as well as a talent for making work seem like fun. We have received praises for our efforts from many leaders in the community, but, we must confess, the enjoyment we receive in helping others is by far our greatest reward.

The Dan McCarty

The Dan McCarty Trophy is perhaps the most sought after prize among all UF Fraternities. It is awarded to the fraternity that proves it is truly interested in the community welfare, as was the man the trophy honors. The trophy, itself, is quite impressive, and represents many hours of devoted effort. We, of the Phi Gams, are very proud of the fact that "Dan" has made his home with us for the past two years. And suffice to say right now, we intend to keep him warm and happy under our roof for quite a long time.

These Boys All Wet --It's for Good Cause

By FRAN SNIDER
Herald Special Writer

GAINESVILLE — The members of Alpha Epsilon Pi social fraternity at the University of Florida were all wet Thursday after they broke the world's longest shower record with a tub time of 350 hours.

Over 150 members of the fraternity shared 24-hour-a-day tub duty on the front lawn of the fraternity house from Oct. 9 until Thursday morning at 6:15 a.m. when they dried off.

The fraternity broke the previous record of 336 hours set last November by the men of Wilson Hall at Oregon State University in at attempt to raise money for the United Fund.

RON WALDORF, a senior from Freeport, Grand Bahamas, explained the fraternity men wanted to do something "bizarre" and decided on the "AEPi showerthon" as a community service project.

Even howling winds from Hurricane Gladys failed to stop the wet effort. The fraternity simply moved tub and shower inside the fraternity house and kept right on soaking, Waldorf said.

"We didn't want to lose any pledges," he grinned.

The fraternity men resisted the impulse to let the pledges do the soaking and everyone in the fraternity sat under the shower even through the long and often cold nights.

"WE USED hot water so no one would get sick," Waldorf explained.

Although no official judges were used to insure the presence of at least one wet body in the shower at all times, Waldorf said the tub was always on the front lawn for anyone to see.

The tub effort so far has raised over $1,200 for the United Fund from visitors to the fraternity house and collections on campus.

NEIGHBORING fraternities contributed to the effort with friendly heckling, a few cherry bombs dropped near the tub and some complaints about the radio the boys listened to at night to stay awake.

. . . through a Learning Environment

The men of Alpha Epsilon Pi have at their command the finest academic assistance program available at the University of Florida.

Last year's pledge class used this program to attain a scholastic average which ranked sixth among the 26 national fraternities on campus . . . while combined averages of our brothers and pledges again ranked above the all-men's average at school.

Our study system is widely diversified to meet the needs of all our members, no matter their major. It consists of study hours, lectures by professors, individual tutoring and a complete file of study guides, course notes and practice examinations, for almost every course offered at the University. Pledges finding themselves in need of assistance may always obtain it from brothers more advanced in their field.

An ever-increasing number of AEPis are attaining the 3.5 average or above required for admission to Phi Eta Sigma, the freshman honorary society, or the Dean's list of their respective colleges.

The student at the University of Florida has a prime academic responsibility to himself which must be fulfilled.

. . . through Leadership in Campus Politics

Participation in Politics, within the Fraternity or campuswide is a demanding challenge. For those interested in becoming involved, AEPi offers a chance for experience. Just as these brothers have met the challenge, and gained the experience . . .

Steve Zack

President of Interfraternity Council

Brother Zack has provided the impetus and direction that has brought the name of AEPi into all levels of the Student Government, Interfraternity council, and all phases of campus affairs.

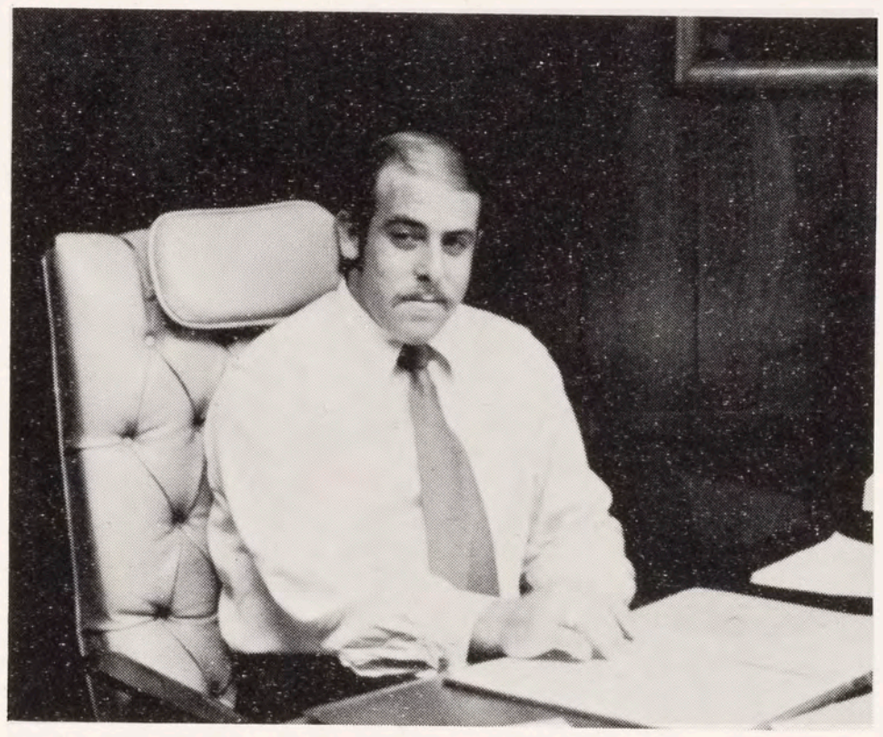
Steve began his accomplished political career as a freshman pledge of AEPi. Serving on the Tolbert area Council, he later became Vice-president. Still during his first year at the University, he was elected Freshman Senator to the Student Senate. Before he was to end his tenure as a Senator, he served as his party's Minority Whip.

As a sophomore, Zack served the interfraternity council as chairman of its Social committee. Through his leadership, AEPi has become the only fraternity to hold the position for three consecutive years. Elected Master of the fraternity in his junior year, Zack also held a seat on the IFC's Presidents council, serving two terms as the district president of six fraternities.

Under the administration of Student Body President Clyde Taylor, Zack was appointed to the highest appointive position on campus, Administrative assistant to the President. He was the first president of the Order Of Omega, the only Men's Honorary Fraternity at the University.

At present, he is the President of the Interfraternity Council, the nominal head of all 26 UF Fraternities. The moral of Zack's success: Through hard work, driving ambition, and acquired experience, even a freshman can climb to the top.

The "Old Man" Takes Over At IFC Frolics



Brother Lubel
"The Exec"

Howard Lubel
Secretary of Student Services

Political participation is an essential component for any successful fraternity, and Brother Howard Lubel has helped to make AEPi as politically prominent as it is today.

As a freshman AEPi pledge, Lubel was elected to the Hume Hall Area Council for two terms. Lubel also served as a member of the Hume Hall President's Cabinet and as Chancellor of the Hume Hall Appeals Court.

As a sophomore, Brother Lubel served on the Board of Directors of the Fraternity Purchasing Association, as Chairman of the IFC's Service Committee, and as a member of the IFC Speaker's Bureau. Brother Lubel was also appointed a Staff Coordinator for Freshman Orientation and Undersecretary of the Interior in the Student Body President's Cabinet.

Brother Lubel, as a junior, again served in the Freshman Orientation program as a Living Area Coordinator. As his competence became well-known in Student Government circles, Lubel was appointed Undersecretary of Student Organizations, and finally to the capacity in which he is now serving, Secretary of Student Services, the most important position in President Shepherd's Cabinet. Howard is but another example of what hard work and effort can achieve.

Robert Moore
Publicity Director—Homecoming

Bob Moore, a senior brother from Miami, has been actively involved in politics since his freshman orientation week.

Representing his dormitory, then AEPi, Moore served two terms in the Student Senate and was elected by his fellow senators to the position of Minority Party Whip.

During his sophomore year, Brother Moore worked on the Service Committee of the Inter-fraternity Council and also served as Press Book Editor for Homecoming Publicity 1968. While functioning in these capacities, Moore still found time to work as a Group Leader in the Freshman Orientation Program.

As a junior, Brother Moore was first appointed Undersecretary of the Interior and then Secretary of Student Organizations in the Presidential Cabinet. Recently, Moore was named by Governor Kirk to direct the Florida Conference for Operation Student Concern.

Currently Brother Moore is working for Florida Blue Key as Chairman for Publicity and Promotions for Homecoming 1969.

Ahoy! Killer Whales

Athletics is an important part of Fraternity life. AEPi actively participates in all phases of interfraternity competition. Whether it be in football, swimming, on the field or off, the spirit runs high.

Many of our brothers are outstanding athletes, but, no matter the likes of the man, AEPi offers him a chance to show his ability. Athletic competition is just one more happening that serves to unite our brotherhood.

Aunt Helen

"Aunt Helen" Sherman is a most remarkable woman. In the three years that she has been with us, her boys have truly grown to love her as their mother away from home.

She is an indispensable part of our fraternity — from her excellent meals to her mending of our clothes — Aunt Helen is always there when you need some advice. The brotherhood voted unanimously to ask her to continue being our close friend.

Little Sisters of the Golden Lion

The men of Phi Gam are very proud that we were the first chapter in the nation to found a little sisters group. Other fraternities have tried to match our group, but no one can come close to this combination of charming females.

The girls have dinner with the brotherhood once a week, and are always a welcome sight at lunch. Nothing is quite like being awakened to the, sometimes, boisterous cheers of 40 screaming females, not to mention an occasional water fight. We are happy and proud to have them represent us all over the campus.

Social programs are an important part of Fraternity life, and AEPi has long been known as the best social house on campus. We are proud to announce that Billy Joe Royal, ("Hush," "The Greatest Love," "I Knew You When") and his tremendous band will be this year's Homecoming Attraction. Big surprises and happenings are in store for you and your date. Nothing is quite like an AEPi party, as you can see in the following pages.

Captain Jack Breger

(Captain Jack is a well known brother among the Phi Gams, as well as the rest of campus. As IFC social chairman, he was responsible for bringing the Vanilla Fudge to campus. The Mideast Crisis flared during the Miss Universe Pageant at Miami Beach this summer when contestants from Israel and Tunisia battled over the body of AEPi's Master, Stu Levitan. PLEDGE MASTERS MESSAGE

Dear Rushee,

May I take this opportunity to welcome you to the University of Florida. For those of us in fraternities, pledging remains the most vivid and wonderful memory we possess.

As Pledgemaster, it is my goal to provide a program which will bring these memories. At AEPi, we emphasize a certain amount of responsibility to be undertaken by pledges, as well as brothers. We speak of mature responsibility for the pledge as a student and member of the community. Long gone are the days of rough house hazing in Fraternities.

Remember, you are a student first. We have a deep commitment as AEPi's, to your welfare as students. For as it has often been said, you are little good to yourself, your parents, or your community, much less the Fraternity unless you are successful in your academic venture. I sincerely hope that I have a chance to get acquainted with you as the days unfold. I want to relate to you some of the fascinating experiences that are part of a Fraternal atmosphere - especially at AEPi !

Best Wishes,

Charles
