

OVERVIEW OF THE JPY

Alpha Epsilon Pi's Jewish Programming Year (JPY) is a unique way for chapters to embrace the fraternity's Jewish heritage while also allowing Brothers to explore their personal connection to Judaism. At AEPi, we don't just want to say we are the Jewish fraternity — we show it.

In this document, you'll find a brief overview of information regarding the Jewish holidays and programs that we offer assistance with. These programs are a part of what gives AEPi its global presence on all of our campuses. AEPi's Jewish Programming Year is available online at aepi.org/JPY for your reference. You can apply for all chapter grants on OpenBook at openbook.aepi.org.

If you have any questions regarding the Jewish Programming Year, please contact Chief Programming Officer Jon Bridge at jbridge@aepi.org, or by calling 317-876-1913.
